EIGHT TORNADOES SWEEP OVER KANSAS

Many Buildings Wrenched from Their Foundations and Several Persons Injured, None Fatally.

Stafford, Kan., April 12.—A tornado occurred at 5 o'clock this evening at Stafford. Several persons were injured, seven houses and a church were destroyed, and many other buildings were destroyed.

The storm came from the southwest, passed over the business part of town without damage, first striking two blocks east of Main street.

The storm then lifted, but struck again in the northeast part of the town, demolishing several houses and damaging others.

Four miles west of Stafford another tornado blew down several farm buildings and seriously injured R. F. Silvers, who saw the storm coming and sought shelter in a granary filled with wheat.

Another tornado is reported at Bushton, thirty miles north of Stafford. Several residences and other buildings were blown down.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 18, 1906.

Hades is packed to the limit with such christians as John Alexander Dowie.

The 54th anniversary of the birth of General U. S. Grant will occur April 27th.

Boulder stands to get $75,000 from the federal government for a post-office building. Lucky Boulder.

Machine politics got an abrupt setback when Judge Robert E. Lewis was appointed United States district judge for Colorado to succeed Judge James Hallett, and thereafter all the people rejoice.

One of the things about the proposed Y. M. C. A. building, which will be greatly appreciated by Fort Collins men and boys, will be the swimming pool. In this dry climate where natural swimming holes are so scarce, things appeal to men more than a good place to go and take a plunge. The new Y. M. C. A. building will be provided with a first class swimming pool of good size and kept filled with clean water at the right temperature. There will be no charge for its use by any member of the association, and a man may go bathing once a week or three times a day if he chooses. Boys will have use of the pool only under the direction of a trained physical director.

The Carter bill now before the United States senate, will work a change in the forest policy of the government if it becomes a law. The bill authorizes the secretary of agriculture to permit bona-fide homestead entries in forest reserves upon lands chiefly valuable for their agricultural character. Settlers will not be permitted to file upon more than 20 acres of land, this to be in compact form. As forest reserve land may be located for minerals under present laws, the proposed measure will restore timber areas to all practical industrial uses that promise greater returns to a community than forestry. Such a measure will go a long way towards disarming the opposition of western communities to the forest policy of the government.

Colorado Springs is just waking up to the importance of free kindergartens and the question of establishing them in the public schools of that city will be submitted to a vote of the people at the coming school election. The big city at the base of the peak that makes Colorado famous, is away behind the times in this respect. The kindergarten has been a part and parcel of the public schools of Fort Collins since 1880—a period of twenty-three years—and any attempt to throw it out now would be met with a storm of angry protests. It works here with utmost satisfaction and has been an important factor in placing the public schools of Fort Collins upon a thoroughly up-to-date standard of efficiency and making them second to none in the entire west.

One of the most important features of the Young Men's Christian association building is the gymnasium. There are gymnasiums and gymnasiums, but the Young Men's Christian association seems to have learned the art of making exercise a delight as well as a benefit. Through its trained physical director it has been able to make exercise a pleasure. Much attention is given to recuperative exercise, such as basket ball indoor base ball, and many simple games. These games bring into play all muscles of the body and tend to greatly stimulate a man's physical activity. Most of the associations throughout the country have large business men's gymnasium classes. The merchant and banker, the lawyer, the physician, and other men of sedentary habits and occupations need exercise, and unless they have some systematic way of taking exercise suffer from the lack of it. By spending thirty minutes in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium three times a week, and taking a shower bath or a plunge in the pool immediately afterwards, many a prominent man in this country has been helped from a nervous dyspeptic condition to robust physical manhood. The Y. M. C. A. gymnasium will be open to all members without any extra charge. There will be classes for the young men in the evening, for business and professional men at the noon hour and at the late afternoon, and for boys in the afternoon and on Saturdays.

Federal office holders in Larimer county are warned that there will be something doing next fall if they attempt to pack primaries and conventions with a view of dictating nominations for the legislative ticket and county officers. The people propose to have something to say regarding the manner of men selected to represent them in the legislature next winter. They are dreadfully tired of voting out and dried tickets made up by a few federal officials and their heelers. Let these self-constituted would-be bosses attend to the business they are paid for doing and the people will look after the nominations of officials in their own way. Larimer has suffered enough already from the middle-some interference of these worthies and are sick and tired of boss rule.

Some well-informed Greeley people persons probably in a position to know, insist that in time, the B. & M. will build to Greeley from the east and will probably use the C. & S. tracks between Greeley and Fort Collins as a part of its line through the mountains of Northern Colorado.—Greeley Sun.

Since the triff matter was so readily and so amicably fixed up with Germany, our free-trade friends do not seem to be so wildly clamorous for the abolition of duties. Even to their biased view it must be apparent that it is not necessary to surrender our matchless home market to the foreigner in order to induce other nations to trade with us.—Troy Times.

Friendly suggestions and wise counsel and advice from party leaders are always welcomed by the people, but the intelligent voters of Larimer county do strenuously object to being dictated to by self constituted bosses, and they will not submit to it in the future. A man can be a leader in his party councils without being an obtrusive boss and insisting upon having things his way, regardless of consequences. We have had too much of that in this county, to the sorrow of the people, and it is now time to call a halt.

The new blood that is being infused into the "jungles" by the purchase of more than half of the property in Buckingham Place by law-abiding, responsible citizens, will be the means of making that heretofore notoriously bad locality a handsome and desirable part of the city when it is annexed.

April is doing the fair thing after all.

The czar of the Russians is long on promises, but mighty short on fulfillment.

Wyoming officials are making life a burden to people who deal in adulterated food.

Vesuvius and Dowie are both quiescent just now, but don't bank too much on their remaining in that condition.

When Steve Elkins goes before the people and tells them he is their friend, make him put up a bond as an evidence of good faith.

Germany has the biggest potato patch in the world. It is not unusual for her to harvest 40,000,000 or 50,000,000 tons of tubers in a year.

Farm work is a little late, but the weather man is just now inclined to help out all he can. Colorado will turn out its usual bumper crop, just the same.

It is to be hoped that Mount Ranier will hold itself down until Dowie gets through spouting. Two volcanic eruptions at the same time would be too much.

Cheyenne will entertain Colorado & Southern officials at a banquet, April 19th. Representatives from Sheridan and Buffalo, Wyoming, are expected to attend the function.

Laramie, Wyoming, voted down the proposition to bond the city for $30,000 for a new system of water works. The people of that city reasoned that as beer is plentiful there, water works were simply superfluous.

The Hon. Chas. A. Towne had a perfect right to boost Bryan at a democratic love feast, but we submit that it was in poor taste for him to attack the president without cause. Mr. Towne will be entirely forgotten within a year after his death, but Theodore Roosevelt's name will go ringing down the ages for all time.

This country needs no Maxim Gorkys to preach redhanded revolution. The peaceful, bloodless revolutions brought about by the ballot in the hands of free people are the only kind of revolutions indulged in in America. There is no cause nor justification for the kind that is accompanied by fire and sword in this country.

Maxim Gorky would do well to inform himself as to the history of Meyer and Haywood before allowing another man to send them a sympathetic telegram bearing his signature. It is one thing to help the oppressed, and quite another to give comfort to a pair of miscreants who, whether guilty or innocent of the crime of which they are now charged, are, nevertheless, guilty of enough crimes to keep them in prison for the rest of their lives if they got their just deserts.—Colorado Springs Gazette.

The proposition now pending in the house of representatives, providing for the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people will not be heard from after it leaves the house. The senate bars are put up against everything of that kind. The senate millionaires will never place themselves in a position where they will have to buy a whole state in order to secure a seat in that body. Legislatures come cheaper.

With resources aggregating $2,558,613.41, deposits, aggregating $1,819,736.19, and surplus and undivided profits amounting to $136,257.34, owned and controlled by its three National banks, Fort Collins is not in line just yet for a tramp over the hills to the poor house. The April statements of these three financial institutions show them to be sound clear through and in splendid condition. Their figures tell the story in eloquent terms of the prosperity that prevails in Fort Collins and vicinity and the confidence the people have in the management of these monied institutions.

Forty-seven thousand young men are enrolled in the evening educational classes of the Young Men's Christian associations of North America. These men are studying seventy-five different practical subjects. There will be a large provision made for educational work in the proposed new Y. M. C. A. building in Fort Collins. This educational work is not to take the place of what is had in the schools and colleges, but to supplement such instruction. Many a boy has to leave school before he has gone through the high school grades, and a still larger proportion never have an opportunity to enter college. By conducting classes evenings the Young Men's Christian association is able to furnish young men a splendid opportunity to acquire a better education at a minimum of cost. The association classes have succeeded where other forms of instruction have failed because of the fact that the association pays for the very best teachers that can be secured, and because the personal contact of the teacher and the personal fellowship with other students is a stimulus to a young man to study, which is lacking when he attempts to study by himself.

OSTEOPATHY

This is the second of a series of articles, which will appear each week, explaining the principles of osteopathy, by the Fort Collins Osteopathic association.

Pneumonia's annual death harvest has claimed two distinguished victims the present season in Marshall Field and General Joseph Wheeler, both of whom died under treatment of the "regular" medical school, with everything known to that school being done to stay the ravages of the disease.

Both distinguished personages were at first stricken with only a mild form of pneumonia, as assured by the attending physicians, and both cases gave the exponents of the "regular" system of medicine the most ideal opportunity to exploit the value of their ministrations, having been called in on each case at the very outset of premonitory symptoms when only slight "colds" and chills were being experienced. The best men in the "regular" profession were in charge of these cases, with every opportunity at their service for costly consultation and every adventitious aid to their treatment that their wits might devise or money could buy.

From the hour that Chicago's merchant prince and the nation's military idol fell sick unto the moment of their respective deaths, these medical men were scarcely once absent from the bedside of their patients.

As usual the public was assured that "science was doing its utmost for the relief of the patient"; that "everything that could be done was being done to guard the life of the distinguished sufferer"; and yet "the medicines being employed did not seem to have any power to stay the ravages of the disease." So, the eminent physicians—one of whom, at least, had crossed the continent to match his skill against the hand of death—took turns at the bedside and rendered the most skillful service known to that school of medicine, but were compelled to report to the friends and world at large how fast the currents of life were ebbing away.

This is no fanciful picture. It is the admission contained in the physicians' bulletins—not only of these two cases, but in practically all cases of pneumonia under "regular" medical treatment. Their patients die in a frightful percentage of cases in spite of the heart stimulants and, as osteopaths believe, very largely because of these powerful drugs.

What awful impotency the physician who relies upon drug therapy confesses in these pneumonia cases! And if he does not admit it, what solemn conviction of helplessness is rendered by the frightful mortality among pneumonia patients so treated! Statistics show that pneumonia is now more deadly than it was a generation or two ago when physicians were less "skilful." Will the world at large never learn this lesson that heart stimulants are injurious in pneumonia?

Osteopaths ask this question solemnly every year while pneumonia is exacting its extra tribute of precious human life, under the care of the old school doctors. We are emboldened to protest louder and louder as every winter's added experience establishes the greater efficiency of osteopathic treatment both in aborting pneumonia before it has taken a deep hold on the system and in enabling patients to weather through the crisis after the disease becomes well established. Since fatal terminations are comparatively fewer under competent osteopathic treatment, while under "regular" treatment pneumonia has come to be fatal in a good majority of cases among people over fifty—especially if they are rich or famous enough to command distinguished medical attendants—we feel it as a solemn duty to proclaim these facts and give those who choose to accept them the chance of a better way to go through this fight for life.

We osteopaths deny that everything that can be done to relieve pneumonia suffers from strangulation and heart failure is done when the M. D. has given his drugs, applied a hot-mud jacket, administered compound oxygen and then awaits the verdict of handicapped Nature. The claim is absolutely untrue. We know it. Every efficient osteopathic physician as an expert in human anatomy and physiology, can take the witness stand and, both as a matter of reason and experience, give testimony that the one most important thing needed to be done in every case of pneumonia, incipient or well defined, is not done by the regular practitioner having cases under treatment. He has not gone direct to the congested centers of the spine of the stricken person, whence the nerve vitality of the lungs is derived, to relieve the blockade demonstrably existing there. A specific osteopathic treatment does this very gratifyingly. The anti-phlogistic jacket used by the M. D. is a general "shot-gun" measure, aimed to secure somewhat the same action, but it is a very inefficient way of accomplishing a specific result. It does not go direct and unmistakably to the affected spot.

Therefore the osteopaths find it necessary to return an indictment against the old-time treatment of pneumonia, both for doing the things that ought not to be done and for not doing the things that ought to be done.

In proof that we are right and entirely just in this impeachment, we offer the experience of our practitioners in the cure of pneumonia patients past fifty years of age, which is to the effect that we bring through eight or nine out of ten of these cases, whereas in cases under the various drug treatments a mortality of a clear majority of such patients is expected. Enough said.

FORT COLLINS OSTEOPATHIC ASSOCIATION.

Right of Way Secured.
Ray Baker phones in from district No. 15, that the money to purchase the right of way for the Black Hollow extension of the Colorado & Southern has been raised and that the line will be built this season.

This extension will start from Plummer dump on the Wellington branch and run easterly a distance of nine miles, right through the heart of one of the best and richest farming sections of Northern Colorado, ending at the east line of the Bennett farm in Black Hollow, and will accommodate a large number of farmers and stockmen.

Much of the right of way was donated outright, but there were a few who refused to let the road pass through their farms without consideration, making it necessary to raise $5,000 by popular subscription for use in purchasing the right of way from these parties. The money has been raised and the work of constructing the line will soon be under way. The enterprising farmers along the line are to be congratulated on their signal success in this matter and on the prospect of being able to send their products to market by rail instead of having to haul them long distances by team.

Those who are five minutes late do more to upset the order of the world than all the anarchists.

Do you know the advantages of an Iron Headgate?

Most farmers don't or they would put in iron gates instead of wooden ones. An iron headgate has as many advantages over a wooden gate as an iron plow has over a wooden one.

A Northwestern Iron Headgate can be put in easier than a wooden gate because it is so simple. It is water-tight, very easily operated, and as it is the most durable gate made it is the cheapest.

Other advantages of iron headgates are explained in my booklet, which I shall be glad to send you for the asking. The best way for you to find out whether an iron headgate has many advantages over a wooden gate is let me send you one on thirty days' free trial. It costs you nothing to try the gate, because I pay the freight, and if the trial does not convince you that the Northwestern Iron Headgate is the best, ship the gate back at my expense. Hadn't you better investigate?

The most exciting feature on the agricultural field day program at Durkee field Wednesday afternoon, was the class relay race, which concluded the day's events. Naturally, each class was desirous of victory and rooters did their best to cheer their contestants on to success. The race was for one mile and was run in good time. When the finish was made and it was found that the Freshmen had won, a shout went up that filled the air for at least a couple of minutes. A loving cup, offered by the faculty, was the reward for the winner's effort.

A NARROW ESCAPE FROM FATAL RESULTS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Roberts and their baby met with an accident Friday night which might easily have been attended with serious if not fatal results. They were driving westward on Jefferson street, returning from Denver in a large Winton automobile, at about 8:30 in the evening, when the machine plunged into the open storm sewer in course of construction at the intersection of Chestnut street. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts and the child were pitched violently forward and out of the machine on to the opposite embankment by the sudden stop, all fortunately escaping injury excepting Mrs. Roberts, who was badly shaken up by the shock and bruised some by the fall. No bones were broken and no serious results are anticipated. One wheel of the auto was practically demolished but otherwise it escaped serious damage.

Mrs. Roberts and the baby were taken to the residence of H. E. Swan and a physician summoned, as she was in a state bordering on collapse from the shock and fright. She is much better today and it is thought will be all right in a day or two.

The accident was the result of Mr. Roberts being deceived by the red light danger signals placed at each of two temporary crossings over the excavation. He took it for granted that these were to warn people from attempting to cross where they were placed and so kept the middle of the street and plunged off into the trench as stated. The trench at this point is about four feet wide at the surface so that only the front wheels of the auto fell into it. When they struck the opposite bank and stopped the machine, the occupants were pitched out over the front on to the embankment.

They had a fortunate escape after all, for if they had attempted to cross the trench a few feet to the left they would have been pitched into a manhole big enough to swallow the auto and its occupants.

GOVERNOR McDONALD VISITS THE COLLEGE

The visitors were met at the depot by Senator Drake, Dr. Aylesworth, Prof. Carlyle and A. A. Edwards. They were driven to the home of Prof. and Mrs. Carlyle, where, together with Senator Drake and Dr. Aylesworth they were entertained at luncheon.

The college was inspected the fore part of the afternoon and at 3 o'clock a trolley party in honor of the guests was formed for the baseball game on Durkee field.

A WORD TO FRIENDS OF DECEASED SOLDIERS

Past Post Commander John C. Davis of this city, has been commissioned to see to the lettering of head and foot stones for the unmarked graves of deceased soldiers, and he is experiencing a great deal of difficulty in getting correct data in many instances.

These head and foot stones are furnished by the government free of cost and all the expense to survivors attached to them is that necessarily incurred in setting them up at the graves. Mr. Davis requests that surviving friends of deceased soldiers buried at Grandview assist him in securing names, age and date of death to the end that the data may be accurate. He suggests that where the discharge papers of deceased soldiers have been preserved, they be furnished him for use in this direction. The discharges will be taken care of and returned to rightful owners as soon as he is through with them. They can be handed to him or sent by mail to John C. Davis, 128 W. Magnolia street, Fort Collins, Colo.

ELKS EAT, SING, SMOKE AND ENJOY THEMSELVES

Fort Collins lodge, No. 804 E. P. O. Elks, entertained most enjoyably with a smoker at the club rooms Wednesday evening.

About 200 of the brothers were in attendance, the event being one of the most successful yet had.

The new Elk band played several selections, acquitting itself splendidly. Dr. C. Mackay Smith presided, and he called upon several brothers for short addresses.

Ted Sexton was on hand with his banjo, playing his own accompaniments and singing three catchy songs. Mr. Sexton also gave a delightful southern song, Chris. Woelz acting as accompanist. Mr. Bennett rendered a vocal solo, responding to an encore.

The chief diversion of the evening was the smoking of the old-fashioned pipe, filled with just the right kind of tobacco. Refreshments were served and it was not until midnight the company dispersed.

The Business Men's train leaves Fort Collins via the Colorado & Southern daily at 8:00 a. m., arriving Denver at 10:15 a. m. Returning, it leaves Denver at 7:00 p. m., and arrives Fort Collins 9:15 p. m., making only four stops.

Special to the Courier.
Washington, April 17.—A decision has been rendered by the United States supreme court, which in its bearing upon divorces and the marital relations, is the most sweeping and important ever enunciated.

As Justice Holmes says in his dissenting opinion, "It will illegitimize many children. Under the decision no state can dissolve the matrimonial bonds unless both parties are residents of that state, and any marriage subsequent to the divorce not gained upon an application of this kind is illegal."

A big rollicking musical comedy will appear at the opera house, Thursday, April 19, in C. Herbert Kerr's latest work, entitled "A Trip to Egypt." This is the second season of great success for this meritorious attraction and it is like good wine, "improves with age."

While the production was a success in every detail last season, the progressive management was not satisfied with the amount it gave to the public for its money, and this year has added many new and original features to an already clever production and as a consequence, "A Trip to Egypt" is even a bigger success this year than last.

One of the new and delightful features this season is the physical culture class of Miss Mollie Egbert, who has been justly termed "a perfect woman."

Guy Matteson, a clever young singer baritone, who made such an excellent impression with Henry W. Savages companies, will sing the leading baritone role and interpret the part of Lieutenant Dasher, the darling young marine in love with the major's daughter. Seats on sale at Secord's book store. MAY WE TELL YOU A FEW THINGS ABOUT CLOTHES? WE HAVE MADE A STUDY OF THE CLOTHING BUSINESS. WE DO NOT CARE TO DO A GET-RICH-QUICK CLOTHING BUSINESS. WE ARE HERE TO STAY. THE SAME PIECE OF CLOTH MADE UP INTO TWO SUITS MIGHT LOOK JUST ALIKE TO YOU, YET ONE MAY COST TO MAKE FROM $2.00 TO $6.00 MORE THAN THE OTHER ONE. WHY? BECAUSE ONE WOULD HAVE HAND-MADE BUTTON HOLES, WHILE THE OTHER WOULD HAVE MACHINE MADE. ONE WOULD HAVE A HAND FELLED COLLAR, WHILE THE OTHER WOULD HAVE A MACHINE MADE COLLAR. ONE WOULD HAVE A HAND PADDED SHOULDER AND A HAND MADE HAIR CLOTH FRONT, WHILE THE OTHER WOULD HAVE A PATENTED SHOULDER AND FRONT. ONE WOULD FIT AND HOLD ITS SHAPE MUCH BETTER THAN THE OTHER. WHEN YOU BUY A SUIT OF US WE SHOW YOU ALL THESE POINTS. WE HAVE CLOTHES TO FIT SLIM, FAT AND MEDIUM PEOPLE, AND TO FIT SLIM, MEDIUM AND FAT PURSES, FROM $5.00 TO $35.00.

RESPECTFULLY,

HOW JAPS KEEP STRONG

Courier Readers Can Learn Something of Value from This.

Such a thing as a weakling is hardly known in Japan. The wonderful endurance of the Japanese soldiers and sailors in the recent war has been the marvel of all nations. Both men and women are well, happy and strong.

The reason for this, so careful investigators tell us, is that the Japanese from childhood up know how to keep well through care of the digestive system. If they have trouble with indigestion, heartburn, wind on the stomach, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, headaches, rheumatic pains, backaches, or any of the other troubles caused by a weak stomach, they treat themselves with some of the principal remedies that compose Mi-o-na, a stomach remedy that has already a large sale in Fort Collins at A. W. Scotts.

So uniformly successful has the remedy been in curing all stomach troubles where it is used in accordance with the simple directions given with each box, that A. W. Scott gives a signed guarantee with every 50 cent package to refund the money if Mi-o-na fails to benefit.

Today's News

A Tribute to Ralph Quick.

A pen tribute is, at best, a poor tribute. The value of a life cannot be stated in the cold terms of rhetoric. When we have analyzed life, as we think, and named and properly valued its parts, that which was loved and trusted, rejoiced in and copied; which brought the flush of pleasure to the cheeks or inspired with worthy ideals, has not been touched. Life is more than its manifestations, more than the sum-total of its accomplishments. Beneath the scholar, the genius, the father, the son, the friend, lies the self, the ego, the man, hidden from curious eyes, and known only partially to the most trusted and loved.

This is as true of the mechanic as of the philosopher. It was true of my friend, Ralph Willis Quick. No words which I can use can adequately set before those who never knew him or know him only slightly, his true worth. He was not a genius—unless plodding is genius—he was not an eccentric, he was not self-assertive; therefore the world knew not how to value him. It is often the discord than the harmony that we notice and speak of. But the force of a life unobserved was silently working, strengthening, softening, beautifying lives, that could not know how necessary he was or how much they were indebted to him until he was removed.

A few terms only are required to express the outstanding facts of his life. In education he was a graduate of our high school and at the time of his death, a senior in Denison, Ohio, university, from which institution he would have graduated in June. In desire and purpose, he was a minister of the gospel. In faith, he was a Christian, and in life, pure.

But none but the family and his most intimate friends can appreciate the true significance of these words. To the average reader, I venture, his education stands for so much mental discipline; his purpose for a choice of professions; his faith for mental bias, or the accident of his environment; his purity of life for innocence. Such superficiality belongs essentially to this commercial age. But what depths are by them uncovered to those who loved him! They are the rift in the cloud, disclosing the eternal blue beyond the break in the mountain range, exposing a landscape of beauty, only half explored. For those who knew him his education was only a footpath winding between wooded hills, over musical rivulets, through sun-lit vales to a treasure far more precious; his purity of life the promise of an eternal spring; his purpose the loving response to the call of the Saviour who bought him; his faith the cup of cool water, inviting to an inexhaustible fountain mirroring in its depths the overshadowing world.

In the more than seven years I have known him my memory fails to recall a time when he was unfaithful to duty. He was faithful as a student, faithful as a son, faithful as a brother and friend, faithful as a son of God! His faithfulness was not naturally good. In early youth a vision of the Crucified helped him to "crucify the flesh with its affections and lusts," and he became a new creature, inhabiting a new world and living a new life. To him one can fancy the Apostle John to have addressed his words: "I have written unto, young man, because you are strong, and the word of God abideth in you, and you have overcome the wicked one."

His life is not broken, it is not an unfinished column. He has finished his work. As a servant he has been "faithful over a few things," and has been called into the presence of his Lord to be appointed "ruler over many things."

May his mantle fall upon the young men of our city and his joy be their's eternally! This is the prayer of his friend.
THE PASTOR.

The letters marked "personal and confidential" are the ones the private secretary opens first.

Death of Chas. V. Howard.

Sorrow prevailed in the city on Tuesday afternoon after news of the death of Chas. V. Howard had gained circulation. It was known that Mr. Howard was ill, but few suspected that his sickness was of a critical nature, and word of his death came as a surprise.

Mr. Howard was one of the pioneer farmers of the Cache la Poudre valley, having located on a farm four miles northwest of the city in 1870, on which he lived until last fall, when, owing to failing health, he sold the farm and removed to this city. Since coming to Fort Collins, Mr. Howard has had rooms at Chris White's, 313 S. Whitcomb avenue, and during his last illness was under the care of Mr. White, who is a trained nurse.

Mr. Howard was a native of Massachusetts, born in 1837, being therefore, 69 years of age. He was an exemplary man in all the relations of life, a most excellent citizen, and a kind and devoted husband and father. Of his immediate family but two children, a married daughter who is a resident of California, and a son, Charles Howard, who was at his father's bedside when the end came. The funeral will take place at 10 o'clock Thursday morning at the home of Chris White, 313 S. Whitcomb avenue.

High School Athletics.

The high school track team is now practicing in earnest and many of the boys are showing good form and it is thought by Captain Culver and Trainer Allen that the boys will do some good work this year. We still have Mr. McCulloch with us. He has his old form at the broad jump, making between 20 and 22 feet and most of the time near 21. With the hammer and shot he is gaining all the time. In the 100 and 220 yard dashes he is doing excellent. His pole vaulting also promises good results. John Kilgore is coming close to the 20 foot mark in broad jumping, and also doing good very good work in the quarter and half mile races, and will possibly do something in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, while in the pole vault he is up to any of the high school's past records. Captain Culver, Howard Culver and Otho Youtsey are beating their records of last year for both the high and low hurdles. Captain Culver is also doing well with the hammer. Howard Culver is a very promising candidate for the half mile race, and Otho Youtsey is doing good in shorter runs and the pole vault. Walter Edwards is one of the men we expect to make quite a showing in the weights. Warren Culver, Otho Youtsey and Cloyd Mercer are all trying for the high jump. It is hard to tell which one will make it. Edwin Bennett will do some good work in the pole vault and the shorter races. Mr. Lowe is doing good in the 100 yard dash. Captain Culver and Manager Mercer are planning for a class track meet for the afternoon of Friday, April 20, in which the contestants will be tried out.

On May 5th, the Northern Colorado Interscholastic Athletic league will hold its annual track meet here, the agricultural college having kindly consented to donate the use of Durkee field to the league for that day and offering to give a barbecue on the campus at 12 o'clock, as well as offering a cup to the school winning the most points. This track meet will bring students from the two Greeley high schools, Cheyenne, Brighton, Loveland and Longmont. On May 12th, the Fort Collins boys expect to go to Boulder for the annual high school day.

On Monday, April 16, the Columbian club met, by invitation, at the home of Mrs. M. M. St. Clair on Remington street. In addition to the members there were present, as guests, the Messdames Neff, Barker, Aiken, Larkin and Russell. The program for the day was in charge of Mrs. J. S. Williams. Her subjects of an essay were the lives and the writings of Myra Kelly, Lillian Bell, Ruth McEnery Stuart and Hezekiah Butterworth. Each one she spoke of consecutively and interestingly, and in the afternoon's exercises, asked the following ladies to assist her: Mrs. Emmet McAnelly, who read from McClure's magazine an article entitled "The Touch of Nature," written by Myra Kelly; Mrs. Thomas, who gave a biographical sketch of Lillian Bell; Mrs. Veasey, who gave a brief review of "The Christmas Story," written by Ruth McEnery Stuart; and Mrs. M. F. Evans, who gave a few incidents from the life of Hezekiah Butterworth; also told of his writings in "The Youth's Companion," his "Zig-Zag Journeys," of which he is the author, and his ardent advocacy of the principles of peace through arbitration. The literary exercises then came to a close.

Mrs. St. Clair, after this, invited the ladies to partake of a delicious collation that she had prepared for them. Whilst the ladies were enjoying the feast a musical program was rendered by Miss Katherine St. Clair and Miss Jean Calloway. The former played the violin and the latter the piano. Their repertoire included "The Rustic Dance," "Alita," selections from Wilhelm Tell, "By the River," sextette from Donizetti, Lucia Di Lamermore, "Italian Romance," Polka, "Parting Song."

The meeting, then adjourned, with thanks to the hostess for the delightful entertainment. Next week's program will be in charge of Mrs. Clarence V. Benson.

Special to the Courier. Paris, April 16.—A Parisian girl who stabbed herself to the heart and was thought to be dead, has been restored to life by a marvel of surgery. CALAMITOUS EARTHQUAKE ON THE PACIFIC COAST

San Francisco Shaken from Foundation to Turret---Buildings Topple and Fall in Every Direction --- A Thousand Human Beings Fall Victims to Seismic Disturbance.

Sacramento Suffers Much Damage---Shock Felt as Far South as Santa Barbara---San Francisco Abandoned as if Menaced by a Terrible Foe---Fires Break Out in Wholesale District With no Water to Fight Them.

[Through the courtesy of the American De Forest Wireless Telegraph company, the Courier is enabled to lay before its readers today the following account of the terrible calamity that befell San Francisco and other Pacific coast cities this morning]

San Francisco, Cal., April 18.—At 5:10 o'clock this morning occurred the most terrific and calamitous earthquake ever known in the history of the Pacific coast. Buildings toppled and fell in every direction. The police patrol is carting the dead from buildings.

Fires broke out in wholesale houses near the water front and other localities and with no water to fight it. The city is abandoned as if menaced by a terrible foe.

The postal telegraph building is partially wrecked and most of the postal and cable employees fled for their lives.

At 7:30 o'clock communication on a single wire was established with Ashfork and Los Angeles. The shock was felt as far south as Santa Barbara, but was not felt in Los Angeles. Mr. Swain, the postal electrician, is now at this office endeavoring to partially restore communications.

All power lines in the city are wrecked.

The Pacific cable was not damaged, but the loss of power seriously cripples communication and it is unsafe as yet to remain in the office.

There have been slight shocks felt every few minutes since the heavy one.

There was a terrible panic in the city, everyone rushing to the streets.

Many hundreds are reported killed south of Market street, where several disastrous fires are raging.

No damage of a serious nature or loss of life is reported from the residence district.

Considerable damage from the earthquake is reported as having occurred in the city of Sacramento, as well as in San Francisco.

San Francisco, Cal., April 18.—11:30 a. m.—San Francisco was practically wrecked by earthquake at 5:10 this morning. The shock lasted three minutes and thousands of buildings were damaged and destroyed.

The loss of life is reported at one thousand. There was no water, and fire rages all over the city. All wires with the exception of one are gone.

The city hall, costing seven million dollars is in ruins. Modern buildings suffered less than brick and wood. Terror and excitement are indescribable.

Most of the people asleep were suddenly aroused and rushed into the streets undressed; buildings swayed and crashed, burying occupants.

Lick house was badly damaged, but no loss of life is reported there.

The Palace and St. Francis hotels stood the shock. People flocked to the telegraph offices to send messages to friends and were frantic because there were no means of sending them.

The greatest damage to buildings was done south of Market street, where they are mostly frame buildings and tenement houses. Fire broke out in every block of that district.

At 8:05 the Postal Telegraph company was the first to succeed in reestablishing communication with Denver and Chicago. Four wires were put into operation, but their carrying capacity is small because of the fact that there is no dynamo furnishing power.

8:50 a. m.—A disastrous fire has broken out on the south side of Market street and is now within one block of the Palace hotel.

The water mains have burst and the fire department is practically helpless.

The utmost confusion exists. All business is suspended. At this moment there is only one wire out of San Francisco—a Postal wire.

The Postal building is badly damaged. The operating room is a total wreck. The power of every kind is gone and there are no lights, either gas or electric.

While neither the Palace hotel nor the St. Francis is gone so far as the outside goes, the inside plastering and fixtures are greatly damaged.

Between the Postal office and the water front, there has been great damage by fire, which is burning fiercely, and there is little or no water.

The fire is burning both on the east and south sides of the Postal building.

The damage by the earthquake apparently extends all over the city.

The shock occurred at 5:10 o'clock this morning and lasted three minutes.

The streets are blockaded with debris. Buildings are being blown up.

DEAD MAY REACH 20,000

Special to the Courier. Houston, Texas, April 18.—2:30 p. m.—Vice President Fay of the Southern Pacific, has received reports from officers of the railroad at San Francisco, stating that from all sources obtainable the dead will reach 20,000.

The list of injured will not exceed 1,000. The property loss is estimated at $40,000,000.

Among the most prominent buildings either damaged or destroyed are the Palace hotel, the Call building, the Examiner building, public library, city hall, post-office, Hobart building, Pacific telephone building, Rialto building, Natrona building, Mutual Life building, fish market and the gas building.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon the entire city seemed doomed to destruction by fire.

The flames are being driven by a high wind through the wholesale district to Market street, and the heart of the retail business section.

Dynamite was used by the firemen in an effort to stay the progress of the flames but without success.

Fire Chief Sullivan and his wife were seriously injured.

VISITORS SAFE.

For the benefit of eastern people who have friends visiting San Francisco, it is safe to say they have not been injured.

Every few minutes explosions are heard of more buildings blown up.

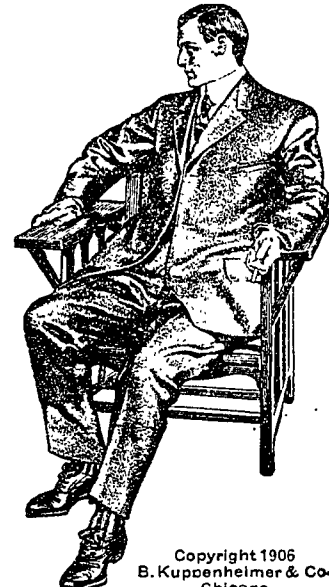

The gas works south of Market street were blown up and the explosion started another fire in that section of the city.

The shock was severe at Berkeley, but as the wires are out of commission, it cannot be learned whether or not there was any loss of life or damage done.

Caught Cold While Hunting a Burglar

Mr. Wm. Thos. Lanorgan, provincial Constable at Chapleau, Ontario, says: "I caught a severe cold while hunting a burglar in the forest swamp last fall. Hearing of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, I tried it, and after using two small bottles, I was completely cured." This remedy is intended especially for coughs and colds. It will loosen and relieve a severe cold in less time than by any other treatment and is a favorite wherever its superior excellence has become known. For sale by F. P. Stover.

Easter in the Churches.

"Let Easter joys break in upon our souls by faith in Him who is the resurrection and the life"—such was the spirit that pervaded Fort Collins people yesterday. The occasion in every respect was ideal for commemorating the anniversary of the risen Lord, and local churches were completely filled. The themes of the several pastors were in keeping with the day and were most excellent. That Auerbach was right when he said, "Music washes away from the soul the dust of every day life," was proved in the renditions of vocal and instrumental programs by choirs and soloists. Each and every service was replete with eminent success and will not soon be forgotten. The Rev. Dr. Skinner delivered the second sermon in the series on Paul at the First Presbyterian church, Sunday evening. An exposition of Paul's supreme doctrine—the historic fact of the resurrection—was the central thought. The Rev. Dr. Robert Carmine, presiding elder of the Greeley district, preached a splendid sermon at the Methodist church Sunday morning. In the afternoon he addressed a large assemblage at Sunnyside chapel. Vestments were worn Easter for the first time by the choir of St. Luke's Episcopal church. An Easter service was given at the Methodist church Sunday evening by the Sunday school, more than 100 people being unable to gain admission. Miss Lena King led the Epworth League at the Methodist church Sunday evening, the topic being "The Resurrected Life."

Want a New Road.

A petition has been filed in the office of the county clerk, asking for the establishment of a road, commencing at the section corner of sections 10, 11, 14 and 15, township 7 north, range 69, west of sixth P. M., thence north along the section line 1,865 feet to the north line of the county road, running west from the west end of Mountain avenue in this city and thence north to the south line of the county road, known as Laporte avenue. Among the petition-

Aggies Had Buck Fever.

Nine to nothing in favor of Boulder university was the result of the baseball game played with the Aggies on Durkee field Saturday afternoon. The absence of Frank Gum, the star pitcher of the locals, laid up, because of a broken bone in his ankle, was partially responsible for the poor showing by the college. Wighton pitched for the visitors and he is, in the vernacular of the diamond, a crackerjack. All his balls were directly over the plate and too swift for the Aggies to tackle. The college boys were entirely too slow, both in running and ball throwing, doing poorer work than at any of the practice games. This was the first intercollegiate game and ere another occurs, the team must brush up. The nine is composed of good quality, but this must be in evidence when first class scoring is to be accomplished. The day was perfect for such sport and a large crowd was on hand. The rooters were many and sonorous for the Aggies, but their efforts availed little. Those desiring the 1906 Fort Collins and Larimer county directory will please leave their orders at the Courier office at once, as the edition will soon be gone.

ADOPTED DAUGHTER OF TOBE MILLER AN HEIRESS

The lost heiress for whom Mrs. Dickerson of Salt Lake City is searching, has been located through the story printed in the News on March 29. A letter was received by the News yesterday from Mrs. James W. Scott of Pagoda, Routt county, Colorado, stating that she was the Stella Dickerson adopted by Tobias Miller in 1887 when she was 3 years old, and that she has the papers to prove her identity. All that remains for her to do is to communicate with Mrs. Dickerson of Salt Lake City in order to ascertain the particulars regarding the portion of her late brother's estate to which she is heir. Mrs. Scott is the wife of a prominent ranchman.—Denver News.
